The Harvest
Golf Club

Dear Harvest Members,

Hope you are enjoying the initial days of the summer season. The excessive amount of precipitation we've received thus far in June is much more than usual, if nothing else it has kept the course lush and in very good condition, but equally as important we hope it prevents imminent threats of forest fires/smoke with the hillside being the greenest they've been in years.

Online Booking

At 4:00 am Eastern time this morning Club Prophet launched another update to fix the fourteen day booking issue that most of you might have experienced. After initial testing, evidence shows this computer glitch has now been resolved. As we know every time an update was previously performed (had three thus far since April 17th) it reverted the clock back from 10:00 pm to 12:00 pm midnight causing frustrations in the process. We will only know at 10:00 pm tonight if the clock has reverted. I simply want to forewarn you of that possibility. We sincerely hope that you will be able to access July 9th tee-times as expected at 10:00 pm tonight.

For the first time this season, looking at the first week of July we are now seeing demands lessen for afternoon play. Morning demand will continue to be very high, especially with the resumption of league play June 29th, but equally so moving into the Summer months where early morning tee-times are at a premium.

Course Maintenance

As mentioned in some of my previous addresses, membership play has oscillated from 85% to around 80/82% at present. Its been noticed that 70% of sand bottle mix on either pull carts or power carts are returning unused. We respectfully ask that you help maintain your golf course by using the sand mix and refill divots on tees and fairways (not rough as it is different type of grass). We've also seen a noticeable increase of unrepaired ball marks on greens surfaces. We believe it is incumbent upon all members to exercise their club duty, so all can enjoy the best possible playing conditions on a daily basis and throughout the season.

Lastly, it is hard to believe that July is around the corner. When we first opened for play, we didn't know if we would remain operational for any length of time. If the 50 people restrictions would be lifted and under what conditions we might be under for 2020. Now after 99 days since opening day and having seen many of you multiple times per week, it certainly demonstrate that golf has been a great tonic to navigate this pandemic. We sincerely hope the general conditions will continue to improve for all of us and you may enjoy a wonderful second half of this ever changed 2020 golf season.

Kindest Regards,
